CALL FOR PROPOSALS
Online Conference: Philosophy in High School
Saturday, March 23, 2024

The Student Advisory Council of the Philosophy Learning and Teaching Organization (PLATO) invites high school students and philosophy teachers working in high schools to submit presentation proposals for PLATO’s virtual conference on “Philosophy in High School.”

Presentation proposals can be submitted on any philosophical topic, including the following suggested focus questions:

1. Why is philosophy so important in this modern age?
2. How can we use philosophy to solve dilemmas in our everyday lives?
3. How have your beliefs been shaped by philosophy?
4. Why is it important for high school students across the world to learn philosophy? What benefits can it bring?

Each session will be 30 minutes long with 10-20 minutes for the presentation(s) and 10-20 minutes for discussion/Q&A.

Please submit a presentation proposal (500 words maximum) describing the topic and its importance.

SUBMIT YOUR PROPOSAL

Deadline: Proposals must be submitted online on the PLATO website by 5pm Pacific Time on February 28, 2024.
