

PLATO California Consortium Community Event

Education and Living in the World: What We Owe Young People

Co-hosted by PLATO and the Berkeley Institute

In honor of its 30th anniversary, PLATO is hosting a year-long initiative to explore one enduring question: "What are the purposes of education?" Join us at this free community event where we'll read an excerpt from Hannah Arendt's "The Crisis in Education" alongside Toni Morrison's picture book The Big Box to examine fundamental questions about education and what it means for adults to introduce young people to a shared world.

Registered participants will receive the reading in advance.

Anyone under 18 to be accompanied by an adult.

Date: Monday, March 30, 2026

Time: 6 – 7:30pm

Location: Berkeley Institute, 2134 Allston Way,
2nd Floor, Berkeley

For more information
and to register visit
[https://www.plato-philosophy.org/
california-consortium/](https://www.plato-philosophy.org/california-consortium/)

PLATO
philosophy learning and teaching organization

30 YEARS
1996-2026

